Hiring Manager
[Company Name]
[Company Address]

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am excited to apply for the Heavy Construction Parts Department Supervisor position at [Company Name]. This role combines everything I enjoy most: leading a team, keeping operations organized, and taking care of customers. With hands-on experience in operations management, supervision, customer service, and sales and marketing support, I am ready to help your parts department run efficiently and keep customers coming back.

As Student Manager for the Illinois State University baseball team, I manage daily operations and logistics for an NCAA Division I program. I organize, maintain, and set up team equipment and supplies so coaches and players have what they need, when they need it. I also collect and analyze performance data to spot trends and support decisions. These are the same skills I would bring to order processing, inventory control, and backorder analysis in your parts department.

I have also led others. As a Program Supervisor for the District 150 After School Program, I supervised daily activities for more than three years and partnered with upper management to improve how the program ran. At EL1 Peoria, I built strong relationships with athletes, families, and coaches, and I learned that great customer service means listening first and following through every time.

My marketing background adds value on the sales side. As a Social Media Marketing Intern at Prospect Select, I supported sales and marketing goals, provided customer support, and increased click-through rates on promoted posts by 7%. I would use that same customer-focused mindset to grow parts sales and strengthen relationships with your customers and service staff.

I am a hard worker who enjoys hands-on work, and the 7:00 am to 5:00 pm schedule with overtime as needed works well for me. I am eager to learn parts counter operations and to operate equipment such as forklifts and pickup trucks as the job requires. I would welcome the chance to discuss how I can help your team succeed. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Angelo Hightower
